

Veterans Resource Central

Our Commitment

Veterans Resource Central (VRC) a 501-c-3, assists returning veterans, and active duty military and their families through a network of volunteers and services. The VRC provides information and guidance to veterans transitioning to civilian life, to military families challenged by life issues at home, as well as to active duty individuals considering civilian careers. We introduce veterans to a network of community business leaders many of whom are veterans, family members of veterans or who just care about veterans and want to help you with your transition.

VRC seeks to fill gaps not covered by existing programs while helping members of all branches of the military. Our broad base of information and support is provided by veterans and non-veterans, young and old. The goal of VRC, a Pennsylvania-based, non-profit organization, is to help returning veterans adjust to civilian life and discover appropriate career options. We have consolidated many resources in a central clearinghouse and continue to incorporate additional resources.

Our Services

VRC combines technology and people helping people. The support VRC provides veterans is at a low or no cost to them. Through our partners, we provide the following services:

Community Support

A strong, influential support network is critical to our success. VRC is currently seeking partnerships with corporations, government agencies, and civic organizations in Central Pennsylvania.

A community of volunteers is required to meet the many needs of veterans and their families. There are opportunities to join our efforts. Will you:

- Answer questions peer-to-peer, as a recently-returned veteran?
- Provide financial assistance?

- Become a mentor who can assist transition to civilian careers?
- Provide your business expertise?
- Participate on an advisory board of recent Veterans?
- Join our speaker's panel and make VRC presentations?
- Become a career coach?
